JSA Group's Privacy Policy is Based on Openness

We are committed to being open about how we use personal information. Your personal information will be collected and held by Authorised Representatives, Staff and related bodies corporate of JSA Group.

Why Does JSA Group Collect Personal Information?

Our business is to understand and meet our clients' needs over their lifetime for a wide range of financial and other services. To do this effectively, we need to collect certain personal information. We will only collect personal information as reasonably necessary for this purpose. In most cases, your personal information will be collected when you meet with your JSA Adviser, Accountant or Consultant or you provide your information to us via telephone or electronic and written material. In some instances, your information may also need to be collected from third parties such as your employer if you are a member of a corporate superannuation plan, accountant, mortgage broker or solicitor.

Our JSA Financial Planning Advisers provide financial and loan products and services under the Matrix licence. They include (but are not limited to):

- Life insurance products protecting against risks
- Investment products to build wealth
- Superannuation and retirement income products to provide for retirement
- Banking and deposit products as part of the financial planning advice
- Financial planning advice, lending service or advice and other services to help individuals understand their financial needs and make financial and investment decisions

Collecting personal information also allows us to meet Australian or international legal or regulatory obligations that we, or product providers, might have.

What Kind of Personal Information Do We Hold?

Because of the nature of the products and services provided, government regulations and the impact of Australian or International legal or regulatory obligations and taxation laws on us, or on the providers of products and services to our clients, we ask for a range of personal information.

The type of personal information we may collect can include (but is not limited to) name, address, date of birth, contact details, employment details and any other information we consider necessary provided by you or by others nominated by you. We may also collect and retain information regarding your education, credit history, professional background and experience and may potentially include sensitive information. For more details, see the section 'Sensitive Information Is Subject To Greater Restrictions' on Page 3.

In some instances, we may also collect information regarding your dependents and beneficiaries depending on the type of service and product we offer to you.

We obtain most of the information directly from you through applications or other forms, and from maintaining records of information provided in the course of financial planning advice, credit assistance, and customer service and for the purpose of conducting business with you.

If you choose not to provide the necessary information, we may not be able to provide you with the requested product or service.

How Do We Collect Your Information?

We generally collect your personal information from you. However, we may collect the information with your consent from third parties where it is 'unreasonable or impracticable to collect from you' such as your accountant, a solicitor or your employer for superannuation purposes. We may also collect your information from publicly available sources or from third parties as required by law. If you are a minor (under 18 years of age) and you wish to obtain advice and services from Matrix, we may be required to obtain information from your legal guardian.

Where you have provided us with your contact details, personal information or requested our services via our websites, we may keep a record of your information.

How Do We Use This Information and Who May We Disclose It To?

Unless you are informed otherwise, the personal information we hold is used for the Primary Purpose namely, the provision of financial planning, credit assistance, novated leasing and finance, accountancy and taxation advice and services and reviewing your ongoing needs. We may also use for personal information for secondary purposes such as enhancing customer service and product options, communicating with you regarding the products and services you have with us; handling your complaints; and giving you ongoing educational information, newsletters or opportunities that we believe may be relevant to your financial needs and circumstances.

We also use the personal information we collect about our clients to fulfil our legal or regulatory obligations or to assist providers of products and services to our clients to do so.

We will only disclose personal information to third parties for Primary Purpose, or when permitted or required by law, or with your consent. We will not release your information for any other purpose unless permitted by the Privacy law and with your consent. You may provide the consent in writing or via telephone.

Depending on the product or service concerned and particular restrictions on sensitive information, this means that personal information may be disclosed to:

- Other areas within the JSA Group who provide financial and other services
- Financial planners, brokers and those who are authorised by JSA Group to review clients' needs and circumstances from time to time
- Service providers and specialist advisers to JSA Group who have been contracted to provide JSA Group with administrative, financial, insurance, accounting, legal, information technology, research or other services
- Other insurers, credit providers, courts, tribunals and regulatory authorities as agreed or authorised by law
- Credit reporting or reference agencies or insurance investigators
- Organisations in connection with the sale or proposed sale of all or part of the JSA Group and/or other JSA business entities and to the use of that personal information by those organisations for those purposes
- AUSTRAC, the government agency who oversees Anti Money Laundering and Counter Terrorism. Before we arrange products or services we are required to validate client identity. We will request and copy some personal documents only for that purpose. Also we are required to provide details of certain transactions and entities where we hold reasonable suspicion of suspect matters.
- Product or service providers who have an obligation to disclose information to the Australian Taxation Office (ATO) where the ATO has agreements to share information with overseas tax authorities.
- Relevant external dispute resolution bodies who would handle your complaint.

Generally, we require that organisations outside JSA Group who handle or obtain personal information as service providers to JSA Group acknowledge the confidentiality of this information, undertake to respect any individual's right to privacy and comply with the privacy law.

When Your Personal Information May Be Disclosed to Overseas Recipients

Generally, when carrying out our business activities and meeting our legal or regulatory obligations, we do not disclose your personal information to overseas recipients. An exception to this occurs when, to assist our Advisers to provide services to our clients, information is filed on customer relationship management tools which are typically located in the United States of America. We take reasonable steps to ensure that overseas recipients have secure processes in place to protect your information against unlawful access.

Marketing Opt Out

You can inform us if you do not wish to receive marketing materials from JSA. You can instruct your Adviser at the contact details provided on the last page of this document.

Sensitive Information is Subject to Greater Restrictions

Some personal information we hold is 'sensitive'. Sensitive information typically relates to a person's racial or ethnic origin, membership of political associations or trade unions, religious affiliations, sexual orientation or practices, criminal record, health information, medical and genetic history.

Sensitive information is usually needed for applications for personal insurance and to manage claims on those products. It may also be relevant to credit and other applications. It is JSA Group's policy that sensitive information will be used and disclosed only for the purposes for which it was provided, unless the customer agrees otherwise or the use or disclosure of this information is allowed by law. Documents asking for sensitive information will explain this and we will only collect sensitive information from you where reasonably necessary for us to provide a service to you and with your consent, or in limited other circumstances specified under privacy laws.

Management of Personal Information

JSA Group trains its employees, financial planners, accountants, consultants and their staff who handle personal information to respect the confidentiality of customer information and the privacy of individuals. JSA Group regards breaches of your privacy very seriously and will impose appropriate penalties, including dismissal in some cases.

JSA Group has appointed a Privacy Officer to ensure that JSA Group's management of personal information is in accordance with this Privacy Policy and the Privacy Act.

How Do We Store Personal Information?

Safeguarding the privacy of your information is important to us, whether you interact with us personally, by phone, mail, over the internet, or other electronic medium. We hold personal information in a combination of electronic and paper-based files and take steps to protect the personal information we hold from misuse, interference, loss, unauthorised access, modification or disclosure.

We may need to maintain records for a significant period of time. However, when we consider information is no longer needed, we will remove any details that will identify you or we will securely destroy the records.

You Have The Right To Check What Personal Information About You Is Held By Us

Under the Privacy Act, you have the right to access any personal information which JSA Group holds about you and to advise JSA Group of any inaccuracy. The Act does set out some exceptions to this.

To make a request, you will need to submit your request in writing, verify your identity and specify what information you require.

We will respond to your request within 14 days. We may charge a fee to cover the cost of verifying the application and locating, retrieving, reviewing details and copying any material requested. If the information sought is extensive, we will advise the likely cost in advance and can help to refine your request if required.

Correction of Your Information

JSA Group endeavours to ensure that your personal information is accurate and up-to-date. We realise that this information may change depending on your personal circumstances. You must notify us if there have been changes to your situation.

You may ask us to correct your information held by us which you believe is inaccurate or out of date. We will action your request in a timely manner.

What If You Have A Complaint?

If you consider that any action of JSA Group breaches this Privacy Policy, the Australian Privacy Principles or otherwise fails to respect your privacy, you can make a complaint. Upon lodgement of a complaint with JSA, you will receive an acknowledgement of receipt and an indication of the timeframe in which JSA will respond to your complaint. We will try to resolve your complaint within 45 days. When this is not possible, we will inform you of the reasons for the delay.

To make a complaint, please forward it in writing to:

The Complaints Manager
JSA Group
